You will find that as an individual health insurance provider, that Blue Cross Blue Shield insurance programs care about us. Have you ever felt ignored by an insurance provider? Many people have and knowing that BCBS cares is important, even if the main reason they care is to make sure that they are profitable too.

Can My Blue Cross Blue Shield Individual Insurance be Cancelled Due to Claims? No. A federal HIPAA law prevents any insurance company from raising your rates or canceling your policy due to claims or a change in health. But that health insurance companies can raise rates due to other factors like your age. Your insurance rates are based on the general policy group age or for an entire class of policies. But no one can be singled out for an increase or cancellation simply because they file claims.

You should know that some health insurance companies will cancel health insurance policies because the insured becomes a higher risk person due to an illness or accident. Generally the insurance companies just raise your rates. This is similar to when car insurance companies cancel people who have too many accidents.
