

Are you going to wait until you are 65 to enjoy your life??

Each day you are faced with expenses and costs, but it is not only the costs and expenses you see that will keep you poor and average. No it is the invisible costs that will keep you from reaching your greatness. You must understand that each day that you procrastinate the door to your Financial Freedom Closes a little more. This is not only your door but the door for you children, their children and on and on. The great wealth builders of the world know this concept and practice this every day of their lives. Why will you take action.

Your journey to Wealth Building and Financial Freedom is at a dead stop until you stop procrastinating. If you really want to change your life, no really want to change your life, then you need to prioritize your actions and stop your procrastination. Everyone on this planet has the exact 24 hours in a day to accomplish their tasks. If this is true then why do some people make fortunes and others barely get by? The simple truth of the matter is that the wealthy understand that it takes action to accomplish goals and procrastination is the number one killer of dreams. NUMBER ONE KILLER of dreams. Will you stop your procrastination today?

Here is what you are up against if you continue to rely to your current income: 330 people are turning 60 years old every hour! This means that the substantial part of the work force (that pays taxes) is moving to retirement age. The cost to average Americans will be substantial. These baby boomers will need more and more health care as they reach older age. Only 5% of Americans retiring today have achieved Financial Freedom. The rest rely on Government means, family support or significantly reduced budgets to get by. Get ready for increase in taxes....it has to happen. You are ready to give more of your money away? If not then stop procrastinating and take action immediately and find a mentor to assist you in your Wealth Building and Financial Freedom.

You are your own worst enemy. You have the power to achieve greatness but you also have the power to kill your quest for greatness. You and you alone must decide if you want to change your life and then commit to taking action to achieve Financial Freedom. There is no magic pill or program or potion that will give you a better life. It is your decision to pursue your Wealth Building and your commitment that has the power to change your life forever.

Ok, so you have decided to change your life for the better: Congratulations. Now the work starts. Say good bye to your TV as it doesn't make you any money but instead only keeps you from achieving your goals. The next step is to find a mentor. Your mentor needs to have vision, be hard working and most importantly willing to teach you how to achieve Financial Freedom. His system should teach how to use the newest technologies and make money. Stay away from any "copy cat" system. These are the ones that say "we do it for you", "no work needed" or something along that lines as they are scams. I call anything that has a 97% failure rate a scam.

There are many methods to focus your self for success. My favorite is to make a list of your biggest time wasters These are the things in your life that do not make you money and you do because there is nothing else to do. Yes TV is the big one. Put in it on the list of things to stop doing until you have reached Financial Freedom. Then make a list of 15 to 20 items that you will do when you reach your Wealth Building goals. This second list will be the list the that keeps you focused. Make sure to put a date on each item and hold yourself accountable.

You will also need to do some research on Wealth Building opportunities. My advice is to stay away from Real Estate unless you have a good grasp on it already. Work on an opportunity that create leverage and offers you a good chance to replace your current income. Once you replaced your current income then you are no longer controlled by your boss or your corporation. Now you can decide things on your own terms. Stay with the company or move on to really building your Wealth Machine.

Now it is time to pick your mentor. This will be the single greatest factor in deciding if you will succeed. They should be using the newest technologies, have sales experience at the executive level with Corporate America and have mentors that are Multi-Millionaires. This will be your best chance for success.

Take action now and build your families future.
